

Remote education provision: information for parents

This information is intended to provide clarity and transparency to pupils and parents or carers about what to expect from remote education and follows guidance here: 'Providing Remote Education - guidance for schools'

For details of what to expect where individual pupils are self-isolating, please see the final section of this page.

The remote curriculum: what is taught to pupils at home

A pupil's first day or two of being educated remotely might look different from our standard approach, while we take all necessary actions to prepare for a longer period of remote teaching.

What should my child expect from immediate remote education in the first day or two of pupils being sent home?

On the first day of isolation if your child is feeling well enough to complete school work you should call the school office for further guidance on 01332 700298.

Will my child be taught broadly the same curriculum as they would if they were in school?

We will use resources available to us as a school, such as The Oak Academy curriculum lessons to identify content that matches most closely the curriculum content being taught in school. Your child may not complete the same activities as those children in school but will be accessing curriculum learning at an appropriate level and stage of development. Where suitable content is not available staff will endeavor to provide this.

Remote teaching and study time each day

How long can I expect work set by the school to take my child each day?

We expect that remote education (including remote teaching and independent work) will take pupils broadly the following number of hours each day:

Primary school-aged pupils – 3 hours per day including Story Time with the Class Teacher.
